Proposal type	Details
Regulatory proposals where no RIA is required	A Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) process on the Tasmanian container deposit scheme was undertaken in 2021. The RIS was assessed as being compliant with the requirements of the Regulatory Impact Analysis Guide for Ministerial Councils and National Standard Setting Bodies (June 2021) by the Australian Government's Office of Impact Analysis. As the RIS process was comparable to the requirements of The Queensland Government Better Regulation Policy no further regulatory impact analysis was required. The RIS did not identify any significant adverse impacts for Queensland. The RIS has been published by the Tasmanian Government and is available at https://nre.tas.gov.au/Documents/CRS%20Regulatory%20Impact%20Statement.PDF

*Refer to The Queensland Government Better Regulation Policy for regulatory proposals not requiring regulatory impact analysis (for example, public sector management, changes to existing criminal laws, taxation).
