

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Capability Action Plan

Queensland Treasury

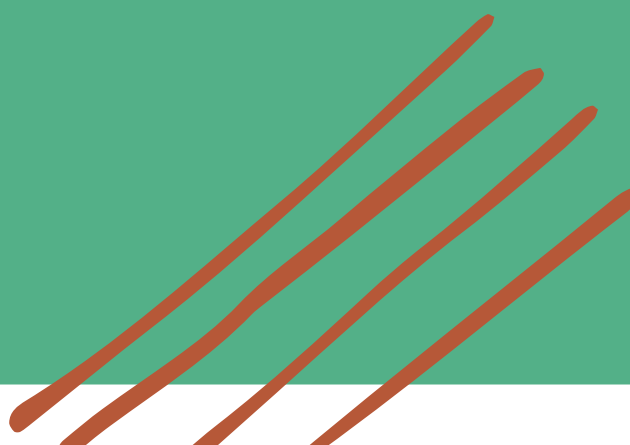

2019–2022

We acknowledge Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as the Traditional Owners and Custodians of this Country.

We recognise their connection to land, sea and community.

We pay our respects to them, their cultures, and to their Elders, past, present and emerging.

About the artwork – Because of Her, We Can

The 2018 NAIDOC Week theme, 'Because of Her, We Can', recognised and celebrated Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women.

As leaders, trailblazers, politicians, activists and social change advocates, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women fought, and continue to fight, for justice, equal rights, access to education, employment, and to maintain and celebrate Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture, language, music and art.

Their achievements, their voice, their unwavering passion give strength and empowerment to past generations, and pave the way for generations to come.

Queensland Treasury's State Penalties Enforcement Registry (SPER) facilitated pop-up art workshops in honour of all the females who have had a positive impact in their lives, community and professional fields. The lunch time workshops were so popular, continuing for two more weeks after NAIDOC Week.

Employees chose their own symbols, told their stories, and generously donated to their chosen charity, Kurbingui Youth Development.

The resulting artwork captures the theme 'Because of Her, We Can', and is proudly displayed on Level 24, 1 William Street, Brisbane.

"This experience was a highlight of my year and I felt humbled to share an essential part of my being in an artistic way."

"My story was inspired by my eight sisters who I draw strength from. The large circle in the middle represents me – the link that connects us all together."

"My sisters are represented by long brown lines – strong, flexible trees rooted in the earth. Their daughters are the tan lines which are younger shrubs of life, and their grandchildren are yellow lines signifying new shoots of life."

"The cycle of a seed that leads to the growth of a shrub, which learns to be flexible through the storms of life, and becomes the tree that passes strength back to the seed."

– Johnina May

"As a child I was introduced to Fingal Head in northern NSW by my mother and father. The aboriginal name for Fingal is Pooningbah, place of the echidna. My symbol, the echidna, honours both my mother and Fingal - both hold a special place in my heart to this day."

– Mike Burnheim

Message from the Acting Under Treasurer

On behalf of Queensland Treasury, I am pleased to present the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Capability Action Plan 2019–2022 (the plan).

As a lead agency of the Queensland public service, and as the government's expert on state finances and the economy, we can influence outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples by stimulating the economy to create jobs. This in turn will lead to stronger communities, more economic opportunities and better local services.

We are committed to providing leadership in developing a more culturally responsive and inclusive environment that values and respects the contribution of our state's first peoples.

The plan reaffirms the importance of Queensland Treasury becoming more representative and inclusive of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and establishes clear and effective actions to facilitate this for the period of 2019–2022. The plan builds upon the important work we have done in implementing the previous Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Capability Action Plan and the Queensland Government Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) 2018–2021. Elements of Reconciliation Australia's RAP Framework have been incorporated to demonstrate Treasury's organisational maturity as a journey from Reflect (scoping), to Innovate (implement) and Stretch (embed).

I am proud this plan continues successful initiatives previously implemented, such as the Indigenous scholarship program and Social Benefit Bonds services, and creates new initiatives like partnerships with cultural education providers and employment services. Treasury will build on its strengths: promotion and celebration of cultural activities, embed others: cultural awareness and education, and improve others: attraction, recruitment, retention and capability development of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

I encourage all employees to get involved and contribute to the actions in this plan in order to ensure the delivery of policies, services and outcomes are responsive to the unique cultural needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Queenslanders.

Mary-Anne Curtis
Acting Under Treasurer

Cultural Capability Action Plan

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Capability Action Plan 2019–2022 is the second plan released by Queensland Treasury.

Our plan is aligned with the Queensland Government Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Capability Framework (the framework), which provides strategic direction for Queensland Government agencies' cultural capability planning. The framework's strategic vision is to provide efficient, effective and responsive services to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people by ensuring their perspectives are an inherent part of core business across all agencies, underpinned by five principles:

1. Valuing culture
2. Leadership and accountability
3. Building cultural capability to improve economic participation
4. Engagement with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and businesses
5. Culturally responsive systems and services.

Monitoring and reporting

A six-month report is prepared and submitted to the whole of government Cultural Agency Leaders Committee.

Annual updates on actions are provided to Treasury's Executive Leadership Team.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander employees

Queensland Treasury has committed to reaching a foundational target of three per cent of employees who identify as being of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander descent by 2022.

This plan recognises that target and includes specific actions to make Queensland Treasury an employer of choice for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. Queensland Treasury will continue to work with Department of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Partnerships to progress Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander career pathways.

As a central agency, Treasury will also work across government to prioritise delivery of the Our Future State: Advancing Queensland Priorities. We will continue to achieve targets under the Creating Jobs in a Strong Economy outcome.

The employee data included to the right shows the number of employees identifying as being of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander descent.
